CARD OF THANKS

We, the bereaved family of Mrs. Mary J. Robinson wish to thank very much our many friends for their kind words and expressions of sympathy in the death of our mother, daughter and sister. Especially do we thank Davis, Hyde, Peet, 194, American Legion Post, 194; Mr. and Mrs. Nori Garrett, also Rev. W. P. Peck for his words of consolation. We thank Mr. Harrison-McKee, City official, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. and Mrs. P. H. Lee, father, and mother, P. H. Lee, brother, Mrs. James H. Robinson, son.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to sincerely thank friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy shown me in the loss of my beloved mother, Berline Adeline. Also wish to thank the members of the church for their kind and beautiful flowers. To the State funeral queen, Mrs. Ada Harris and all the members for their courtesy. Rev. Dr. Eddie and Eddie's wife for words of consolation and Eddie's son for his efficient service. Mrs. Mary Gault, daughter.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear father, Eliza Gault, who died this day one year ago, October 8, 1920.

Two of my dearest ones have over me. They will always keep you near me. Love still abides to keep you near me. Through you love one year ago.

Never shall you be forgotten. Never your my memory fade. A loving heart will always linger. Roots deep where you are laid. Rest my spirit by shorely Brook and friends.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Graven, who departed life on October 3, 1918 and May 15, 1921. Oh, how we miss them, how was you like. But we have some happy days.

We will join to part no more. We will always remember you and your grandsons, Mrs. Silas Graven, Pearl Marlow, W. E. Graven, L. S. Graven.

THEATRES

DRAKE AND WALKER'S BOM BAY GIRLS. COMING SOONER THAN MONDAY.

Drake and Walker's Bomber Girls will be at the Drake Washington Theatre next week, beginning Monday night. This attractive band has been a load of fun, returning to St. Louis after a successful tour with pleasure by the showgoers.

Henry Drake, one of the talented stars of the stage, is here. They never fail to surround themselves with talented performers. This year they are also featuring Ethel Walker. They are the "Glorious Girls" because "Their play, 'The Girl from Philie,'" is said to be the greatest comedy ever written. It is a comedy with a special feature, the girls being the stars of the theatre each night, before the first show. The play was written by Drake himself, and directed by his wife, Bessie Buggley, who is director of the band. There is little doubt of packed houses at this week, and we can be sure there will be no letup, in prices.

JAMES' CRESCENT PLAYERS HAVE LIVELY SHOW

James Crescent Players, at the Drake Washington this week, have a good lively show, full of jazz and highly entertaining.

A girl's life with a chorus and dance of the company. This is followed by a comedy, which involves a girl, but permits one to see into heaven. It may be a trifle to allow that once Rucker is to be introduced as a young rooster, but it is a good Master. Fred James comes next in songs, comic sayings and dances. The diminutive actress adds a bit more, and the girls appear again in dancing. Miss Caldwell scores singing "Home again blues."

The second half of the show is a musical comedy entitled "Under the Skies of Arizona," with its setting on the Mexican border. Americans get interested in the life of the Indians and pecos, and have a lively time until they shoot their way out. Then comes a musical comedy with a good interpretation of the last man of the border, a character for whom he has long been noted. Miss Clegg and her troupe add a bit more, and Misses "Jackie" Tillie Johnson as "Carmenella"; Misses Clegg and "Rose and "Violet" as "Lily" and "Daisy" make their way well. During the intermission a Mexican dance is given by DeLoys and Miss John Johnson, and the curtain goes down on the "Crescent Show." The entire show is good and the patrons are being well entertained.

THE PICTURE THEATRES

And just as you thought you had seen the best Negro picture ever produced, and a 100 per cent entertainer, will come along to top the rest. Meet Mr. Sunday, the Negro cowboy, and sit in the Comet on Thursday and Friday. The story runs as follows:

In the days of the Old West, Munson with peace loving tribe rejected in the God's world under the guidance of Father Albert, Bright Moonshower, the Indian who had been converted and professed themselves to the fact of savage savages and easily influenced by Van Harpe, who had been sent to them by the Devil. Under Van Harpe's bidding attacked the peace loving tribe of Munson capturing him and other Indians and sent him to the American State Market by Van Harpe.

Munson ate his little share of suffering to become a good and gentle man in the Absalom Col. Education, and on plantation Munson soon won the good will and respect of everyone, and the love of his wife, whom he appreciated, he left his now grown son under the Col. Care.

In the year 1861, a year of which she is the mother of the foundation and marked the dawn of emancipation. Munson's son, Jim, who served faithfully as a soldier in the Union Army, and drifted into the world for search of the knowledge and fulfillment of his ambitions. After his third battle and received many degrees of pain, and behaved by young and old of his race. Then there were some stories of the terrible scenes of the Civil War, but Jim, without many shedding death and woes.

W.H. Federal Motto: Boundless opportunities in this country for the poor, and the ignorant.

He wished to pursue the betterment of the social standard of his people, building better schools, churches and homes, with his returned pleasure, adventures who will make her for herself alone, and meets with the opposition of her guardian—an unscrupulous adventurist. The plot takes a dramatic turn when Jeanne's husband, who has been captured by the villain, is shot to death. It is the offering of two heroes to rescue the man. Captured and taken to a pugnacious cave old Thor throws himself into the sea to escape.

"The Old Nest" At the Star Saturday and Sunday

REGULAR "Drama's" best gripping story of home "The Old Nest" will premiere at the Star Saturday and Sunday. It is a series of dramatic episodes that reveal the life of American family. The theme of the picture is that the difference between a good and bad home life lies in the hearts of a typical family. All the joys and sorrows that every one remembers are shown—on the screen, before heart and laughter quick succession. In the story, the mother lives to her family of six children. She comes to the end, they remember the nest and come home to roost. There are plots more than there is a plot. The story is told in a simple way and has no questions. A production of life in "The Old Nest." On Monday, the play continues "Miracles of the Jungle," and Comedy.

"Miracles of the Jungle" At the Star Saturday and Sunday

EXTRA—W. Griffith's spectacular masterpiece "Dream Street" will be featured at the Movie Theatre this Sunday. It is the most wonderful pictures ever screened.

"After Your Own Heart" And Love At Criterion

TOM MIX in "After Your Own Heart" will be the feature at the Criterion Saturday and Sunday. The author took an old water hole between two ranches, and from this dispute over his water, he wrote a stirring western picture and put it into a picture romance.

In addition, the author has put into the story one of his theories about how ranchers should be treated, and made an attempt to help in the rounding and authoring by the cowboys. It's a rollicking mix story.

Lester Cuniq, the smiling daredevil, will appear on Sunday, "Lance" as a leading bond between man and woman in which nothing man can do is the same with the girl. It's a story of the strength of love by the heroine for the sake of her young sister. The hero and love have to catch up with the girl, but the hunt for honest woman and the part of two sweethearts are the threads which develop into the big dramatic vehicle.

"Stranger Than Fiction" And "The Sign On The Door" At Pendleton

Katherine MacDonald in "Stranger Than Fiction" will be offered the Pendleton Theatre Saturday and Sunday. It is a story of a strong human interest situation. It's very suspenseful with suspense, humor and a few thrillers. It's a gripping mix story.

Included in lot are a large number of player pianos, straight pianos, sets, raps, dressers, bedbug, rugs and in fact anything used furniture. The goods will be all you can afford to pay and can be bought very cheap. We own our buildings and have no rent to which means a saving to you.

We make loans upon furniture and in some cases from $100.00 and leave the furniture in your home. Only requirements necessary in getting loans are that you must be employed and have a bank account and paid for it.
